

In this Friday, April 20, 2007 picture, a caution sign marks an area surrounding a pool that protects spent nuclear fuel at the Indian Point nuclear power station in Buchanan, N.Y. Because it failed to find a location for permanent storage of spent fuel, many tons of highly radioactive used reactor rods are kept in pools inside reactor containment buildings. (AP Photo/Julie Jacobs)

« Back to article