Eyewitness News

UNION SQUARE (WABC) -- In a show of solidarity with the victims in Japan, dozens of people rallied on Saturday in Union Square.

In the wake of the problems with Japan's nuclear power plants, anti-nuclear protestors are calling for the closure of the Indian Point Nuclear Power Plant here.

New York City is just 24 miles downwind of Indian Point and in the event of a nuclear accident protestors say it is impossible to evacuate 10 million people.

 Please pay attention to the facts. A knife will not continue killing on its own for hundreds of years.
In the news: "On 3/30/11 The Senate held a hearing on American nuclear power in light of #####. Testimony from Union of Concerned Scientists on spent fuel pools is stunning. Most American reactors have no back up electricity for the spent fuel pools. The industry treats them as benign and stores them in buildings similar to the sheds you buy at Sears.
