Today, Scientist and HAARP expert Dr. Nick Begich in Alaska has helped the growing ranks of independent specialists attempting to warn the public in their best interest that the Fukushima fallout is worse than being mainstream media and government are telling.

Dr. Begich and his team are monitoring the ongoing cover-up and the radiation levels.

"It's obviously melting down and what we are witnessed is going to worse than 3-Mile Island," stated Begich.

Dr. Begich is recommending that citizens use simple radiation detectors.

Media is still playing down the risk due to its slow to gather data; not wanting to create panic; and for economic reasons according to Dr. Begich.

Alex Jones has interviewed Dr. Begich, now on Youtube that is embedded on this page.
