In the face of the present unprecedented increase in artificial microwave radiation in the environment, there is a vital need to obtain up to date information as a basis for a comprehensive assessment of the impact of this radiation on people's health.

This questionnaire for the general public is easy to fill in and anonymous. For it to be credible and representative it is essential for it to be circulated widely in Europe and worldwide so that we can amass the maximum statistical data.

Designed originally in a printed version by Dr Roger Santini, it has been updated so that people who live close to relay antennas can give the full details of their experience.

The statistics gathered from this enquiry will be sent anonymously to scientists and health organisations for analysis and publication.

Please help circulate this questionnaire.

Retirement homes(like this one in Capitola) are excellent places to put wireless radiating devices like 'smart' meters and cell phone towers- the residents don't complain and if they do, just increase their dose of pharmaceuticals (photo K Nevis)

Shielded installation cable that absorbs radiation VMVB type

Type: DESCafil ECO-70 VDE (St) 3x2,50/1,50 mm² grise (N)HXMH(St)

Shielding with alternate layers of aluminium and polyester

3 conducting copper wires of 2.5 mm²
in insulated PVC cladding (neutral, live and earth)

in tin-plated copper of 1.5 mm² to create a separate earth independant of the electrical earth.

PVC
external trunking

Single strand wire
connected to the shielding

Insulating elastomere trunking filled with ferrite powder.

This magnetic component makes it possible to trap the energy of the EMF from LF (50 Hz) and by heat conversion to cancel out almost all the HF radiation carried by the mains system, particularly for PLC / PLT / PPC.
