China weather "magic" conjures blue sky for parade
Thu Oct 1, 2009 12:45pm IST

Cui said this year’s plans dwarfed those for the Olympics, but despite their success he said there was still room for further improvements.

"The technology we have mastered so far could only allow us to modify the weather to a limited extent," he told Xinhua.

"There are many uncertainties up in the sky."

(Reporting by Emma Graham-Harrison; Editing by Jeremy Laurence)