

News > Photo essay: Crewmembers deliver boron to Japanese service members

Photo essay: Crewmembers deliver boron to Japanese service members

Posted 3/22/2011 Email story Print story

by Osakabe Yasuo
374th Airlift Wing

3/22/2011 - JAPAN (AFNS) -- Crewmembers from the 36th Airlift Squadron deliver pallets of boron to Japan Air Self-Defense Force members here March 19. Japanese forces will use the boron to aid stabilization efforts at the Fukushima Daiichi nuclear plant.

View the slideshow.

Comments
No comments yet.

Photos

Aircrew members assigned to the 36th Airlift Squadron fly March 19, 2011, above Japan, en route to deliver seven pallets of boron to Japan Air Self-Defense Force members at Hyakuri Air Base, Japan. (U.S. Air Force photo/Osakabe Yasuo)

Download HiRes

Inside AF.mil

Search

search AFLink

General Images Video

View All RSS

More Headlines

Airmen successfully medevac Antarctic worker

AEF conference prepares experts for upcoming deployment

Panetta pledges 'No hollow force' on his watch ³

First Airmen graduate from new EOD screening course

Air Force civilian honored with Zuckert Award

VA officials issuing first payments to caregivers

Storm water management required for Air Force construction program

Gates ends historic term as defense secretary ⁸

Strike Eagle pilot honored with Air Force safety award ²

Air Force continues on path toward sustainability ¹

Air Force normalizes short-tour credit policy ³

Chief Roy reflects on first two years in office, way ahead for Airmen ¹

Nellis F-16 crash site found ¹

Officials continue Arlington Cemetery investigation

Commentary

Independence Day: Freedom at its finest

Gratitude a very different place from which to face challenges

Add a comment