

Subject: Tracking Ticks via Satellite

From: NASA Science News <snclist@lyris.msfc.nasa.gov>

Date: Fri, 28 May 2010 15:31:58 -0500

To: NASA Science News <snclist@lyris.msfc.nasa.gov>

NASA Science News for May 28, 2010

Ticks cause Lyme disease and many other ailments, but finding the bloodsuckers by hand can be both disgusting and dangerous. Now there's a better way--via satellite.

FULL STORY at

http://science.nasa.gov/science-news/science-at-nasa/2010/04may_ticksat/

You are currently subscribed to snclist as: info@californiaskywatch.com.

This is a free service.

To unsubscribe click here: <http://lyris.msfc.nasa.gov/u?id=168735S&n=T&l=snclist> or send a blank email to leave-snclist-168735S@lyris.msfc.nasa.gov